

Specialized Care.

At Alois, our support team of doctors, pharmacists, nurses and other experts stay closely involved with our residents and families. Because we have such an experienced support team, we are able to care for our residents whose diagnoses exceed more than just dementia. From early stages to total care, Alois is able to meet the specific needs of every resident. Local universities recognize this and partner with Alois as they train future physicians, psychiatrists, pharmacists and other health care professionals.

Personalized Service.

Alois has the unique ability to transition with your loved one as their requirements for care progress. Our five distinct levels of care allow the right care at the right points in their changing physical and cognitive abilities. Each level centers on an environment tailored to their needs—both cognitive and medical. Nationally awarded programming, daily activities and off-campus outings engage our residents and promote a sense of independence at each stage of their journey.
